

rat skin training suture

This filigree suture pad allows incision and closure along the linea alba during abdominal procedures in the rat.

Product codes:

Reference: VTQ-SUT-PAD-RAT

Product description:

This fine abdominal wall of a rat is especially filigree designed with skin and musculature.

External genital organs and teats are incorporated as lifelike external landmarks.

The integrated linea alba makes it possible to practice incisions, skin sutures and surgical knotting techniques under realistic conditions.

Our suture pads are reusable, tear-resistant and retain their shape and texture even after repeated use.

Our practical pad holder can be used to mount the suture pads in a vertical or a horizontal position, as required.
